ALLARD TO ATTEND EPA OMBUDSMAN'S HEARING ON SHATTUCK PUBLIC HEARING ON SHATTUCK TO BE HELD IN DENVER SATURDAY

Washington, D.C. – U.S. Senator Wayne Allard (R-CO) will attend the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Ombudsman's Shattuck Public Hearing in Denver on Saturday. The hearing will be the first public meeting on Shattuck since the Ombudsman began an investigation of the Shattuck Superfund site located in south Denver at request of Senator Allard in March.

The public meeting is scheduled to begin at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, September 18, and will take place at the Washington Street Community Center, which is located at 809 South Washington Street in Denver.

"I hope anyone that has a concern or question about Shattuck attends this very important hearing being conducted by the EPA Ombudsman," Allard said. "I plan on attending the hearing on Saturday to learn what the Ombudsman investigation has uncovered to date, and to ask questions of those called to testify by the Ombudsman about the decision making process at Shattuck.."

In addition to Senator Allard, Colorado Governor Bill Owens, Denver Mayor Wellington Webb, Congresswoman Diana DeGette and Denver City Councilwoman Kathleen MacKenzie have been invited to attend Saturday's hearing by EPA National Ombudsman Bob Martin.
